A retrospect of the CEYLON tea market during 1897 will, we fear, occasion a certain amount of disappointment to planters and others connected with the industry. The comparatively high rate of exchange maintained throughout the year, although somewhat artificially secured, was unaccompanied by any compensating buoyancy in prices on this side, which has been the usual result of a natural rise in the silver market, and consequently, whilst the cost of production was actually increased to some extent we have to lament a further decline of nearly ¾d per lb. in the general average price realised for all CEYLON tea on garden account. The year under review, however, did not, we think pass without considerable encouragement to producers, as it has undoubtedly left the industry yet more strongly established upon a sound and permanent basis, ensuring a constant demand for all those teas where quality is not allowed to sink below a fair standard of excellence. The cry of over-production has been warningly reiterated for years past, but so long as planters show due regard to the quality of the leaf plucked we see no reason to indulge in pessimistic apprehensions. When we consider that the increase in the IMPORTS of CEYLON TEA during 1897, over those of 1896, amounted only to some 2,000,000lbs., whilst the total DELIVERIES shewed an expansion of over 7,000,000lbs., we need add nothing to allay any fears on the score of over-production. It has long been felt that if Foreign and Colonial markets could be brought to recognize the economic and dietetic values of CEYLON leaf, a safety-valve against any prospective oversupply would at once be assured; consequently the efforts of all interested in the industry have for some years past been directed towards popularising the article in all Colonial and Continental tea-consuming countries. It is one of the hopeful signs for the future of the CEYLON tea industry, that the efforts of producers and distributors alike in exploiting new markets have hitherto been eminently successful. One of the leading features of the market during the past year, perhaps the feature for which we have to be most thankful for, is the important expansion in the re-exports to the Continent. When we point out that more than a quarter of the substantial increase in last year's consumption of CEYLON leaf is due to foreign appreciation and support, and that fully 10 per cent. of the IMPORTS into the U. K. last year were re-exported, and almost entirely to the full benefit of the producer without any intervening profits, owing to the orders received for auction on samples sent out previously, we feel entitled to indulge in hopeful anticipations for the future, and to congratulate planters on a success which has certainly never been vouchsafed in anything like a similar degree to their INDIAN brethren. As we anticipated years ago the merits of the CEYLON leaf have been most fully recognized and appreciated by the RUSSIAN distributors. For many years the work of gaining over this important market proceeded silently, patience and diligence in submitting samples being duly rewarded by the important RUSSIAN orders which now almost weekly constitute an important factor in the competition at the London auctions. In GERMANY and FRANCE the leaf has, so far, not made any great headway, but as tea drinking itself in those countries is chiefly confined to the English and American populations they contain, no marked and rapid improvement in the demand could be reasonably expected. Signs are not wanting however that the demand for these countries is also expanding. The re-exports to AMERICA and CANADA shew a slight increase, but in their case too the development of the trade is somewhat slow; the established predilection in those countries for a very different description of tea is an obstacle, which will require time and perseverance to remove; a fair business, however, has been done during the past year with light pungent underfermented teas. As regards CANADA the progress made looks small, but considering that the entire population of the DOMINION amounts to only some 5,250,000 souls, a rapid increase in the consumption of Ceylon tea was not to be looked for.

The Average Price for all Ceylon Tea sold on Garden Account in 1897 was rather over 7¾d per lb., against 8¼d in 1896, and 8⅝d in 1895.

The dull tone preceding the Christmas of 1896 gave place to a more animated feeling during the early weeks of 1897. Throughout JANUARY competition ruled brisk for all whole-leaf tea except the very commonest; good common Souchongs then realising 5d to 5½d per lb. and medium Pekoes from 7½d to 9d found a ready sale at firm rates, whilst, with a gradual decline in the quality of the offerings coming forward, all the best liquoring teas were the subject of strong competition at slightly improved prices. Broken Pekoes met a very flat market at the opening sales, and ruled very cheaply throughout the month, although they subsequently found readier buyers at the low rates established. By the end of the month the general average had risen from 8d at the first sale to 8¼d. Early in FEBRUARY the demand temporarily drooped, attention being confined to teas for liquor, but a revival again set in, almost all classes benefiting by more general activity on the part of the trade, and by the end of the month the general average had gradually hardened to 8½d per lb. During MARCH a weaker tone prevailed in sympathy with the easier tendency prevailing in the INDIAN tea market; whole leaf up to 8d per lb. remained firm, but over this price considerable irregularity was apparent whilst the higher grades ruled ½d to 1d per lb. cheaper. Broken Pekoes meeting an especially flat market. Heavy auctions early in APRIL just before the EASTER holidays caused a further general decline in prices; medium Broken Pekoes could only be disposed of at a further reduction, whilst Pekoes over 7d which hitherto had ruled so firmly suffered a sharp decline of ½d to ¾d per lb. and Souchongs for "price" also shewed some weakness in sympathy with the general tone; the general average was now reduced to 7¾d. At this lower range of prices the last sale previous to EASTER established a more active tone, which was well maintained at the heavy auctions succeeding the holidays. By the middle of MAY the quality generally shewed further deterioration, but the tone of the market, despite heavy supplies, remained steady; Broken Pekoes, however, continued to rule irregularly with a lower tendency. During JUNE the general average receded to 7½, but competition continued fairly active although business was considerably interfered with by the WHITSUN holiday and the JUBILEE CELEBRATIONS. In JULY the demand centred upon good liquoring teas; good common Souchongs sold readily at the current favourable rates of 5d to 5½d per lb., but poor liquoring Pekoes below 7½d ruled rather easier; the general average now touched 7d per lb., but the close of the month rose again to 7½, quality shewing some improvement, whilst the market hardened for all desirable liquoring sorts. After the AUGUST Bank-holiday an active demand set in at current prices, medium and fine descriptions in fact commanding advances of ½d to 1d per lb., indifferent Pekoes, however, proved somewhat in excess of the demand and sold at easy rates. By the first week in SEPTEMBER the average price had advanced to 7¾d per lb., the general tendency continued in favour of the best teas, but Souchongs for "price" were readily taken at the current favourable rates; the closing sales of this month comprised teas of better quality which continued to meet a strong demand at advancing values, the general average standing at 8½d per lb. Throughout OCTOBER an excellent tone prevailed, the average steadily advancing to 9d per lb.—the highest point of the year; Souchongs for "price" now ruled rather dearer, but the poor average quality of the INDIAN arrivals created an ample supply of low priced tea precluding any material advance for this class whilst it ensured enhanced rates for all good to fine descriptions. Fine tippy Broken Orange Pekoes made full prices throughout OCTOBER, but subsequently, on a larger proportion of such teas becoming available, quotations shewed an easier tendency. By the middle of NOVEMBER the the attention of the grocery trade all over the country was diverted to other articles than tea, and the tone became rather weaker especially for medium sorts, this feeling becoming intensified as the year drew to a close. It was thought at one time that the slip on the CEYLON Railway would interfere considerably with the due transport of the teas from up-country to port, but supplies continued to come forward in sufficient weight to satisfy the current moderate requirements, and although statistically the position became very strong—deliveries rapidly overtaking the landings—the low rates ruling in the heavily weighted INDIAN market tended to attract attention to the latter growths, and although Souchongs for "price" at about 6d per lb. commanded firm rates the better kinds especially Broken Pekoes, met a decidedly easier market, and the year closed with a general average price of 8¼d per lb.

DISTRIBUTION OF CEYLON TEA.—The total exports from COLOMBO in 1897 amounted to 116,000,000 lbs. against 108,700,000 lbs. in 1896; of this total nearly 99,000,000 lbs. were available for the UNITED KINGDOM, against almost 94,000,000 lbs. in 1896. The following table taken from Messrs. Forbes & Walker's circular of the 13th January shews the distribution from COLOMBO for the past two years:—

Year.	United Kingdom. lbs.	Other Countries in Europe. lbs.	America. lbs.	Africa and Mauritius. lbs.
1897	98,998,454	937,629	830,373	277,270
1896	93,926,124	617,345	718,600	266,327

	Australia. lbs.	India. lbs.	China and Singapore. lbs.
1897	13,232,747	986,765	737,353
1896	11,806,795	924,272	461,925

Distribution of BRITISH IMPORTS of CEYLON TEA during the past three years, taken from the BOARD OF TRADE RETURNS:—

Year	Home Consumption. lbs.	To Countries in Europe. lbs.	To U. S. of America. lbs.
1897	85,493,554	6,136,760	1,615,267
1896	80,294,475	4,595,257	1,408,044
1895	74,023,809	3,819,806	1,429,575

Year	To B. N. America.	To other Countries.
1897	1,533,017 lbs.	1,912,134 lbs.
1896	1,420,020 lbs.	983,302 lbs.
1895	1,119,080 lbs.	734,707 lbs.

QUALITY on the whole proved fairly satisfactory during 1897. From MAY to AUGUST the arrivals as usual lacked character and point to a great extent and comprised a large proportion of poor liquoring tea which served to depress the market during those months, but in the Autumn and Winter the quality generally proved very satisfactory and fully equal to that of the previous year. The "tarriness" and "mintiness" referred to in our last year's "Memoranda" was again very prominent at times during the year, and the supposition that the latter defect is due to Eucalyptus has lately received some support from the fact that at a recent auction when several gardens' teas were found to be tainted by this flavour they proved to be all out of one ship which included Eucalyptus Oil in its cargo.

SMALL BREAKS.—The limit of small breaks remains at 18 CHESTS, 24 HALF-CHESTS and 40 BOXES. The trade, however, still complain of the labour entailed in properly valuing a heavy CEYLON sale owing to the small size of the greater proportion of the breaks. At present a sale of 30,000 packages CEYLON tea is represented by quite a thousand lots, whereas an INDIAN auction of the same size comprises only some 600 to 700 breaks.

SORTING.—Although as a rule three important grades may be regarded as sufficient, and indeed in the case of small shipments should not exceed that number, in order to ensure due consideration from buyers, yet the increasing number of large invoices may well be further subdivided and include an Orange Pekoe (unbroken) so that the proportion of Broken-Pekoe may be more limited; the increasing demand from the Continent is confined to "whole-leaf" teas, and Orange-Pekoes—wiry and free from dust—are well calculated to suit the wants of foreign markets.

SUMMARY OF CEYLON TEA SOLD AT PUBLIC AUCTION IN LONDON

CEYLON COMPANIES AND THE LOCAL SHARE MARKET.

A DETAILED study of the state of the local share market, and the prospects of both sterling and rupee capital tea and other produce Companies —more particularly those formed during the past two years—shows how severe has been the relapse after the inflation of 1895.

Its reflex action upon the island generally has not become very manifest yet; but must already be bringing its influence to bear in many directions. What the natives felt during last year more especially was the dearness of rice due to the Indian Famine, and enchanced up-country by the Allagala Rock-slip. The immigrant estate coolies, in most cases, suffered less than others in this way, because the majority of estates shared the additional cost with their labourers. This has tended to further reduce the profits of not a few public companies; but it is fully realised now that the prime and lasting cause has been the artificial exchange to which the prices of our staple have in no degree responded. It is not a characteristic of the Ceylon planter to bemoan bad luck. If it come to him in the ordinary risks of tropical life and work he is prepared to take his chance and accept the results in a manly way. Low prices do not force a complaint from him if he be competing on equal terms with the rest of the world; but when he realises that he has not a fair field; that his case, in spite of his highly-praised pluck in refusing to be wiped out by the coffee crisis, has not received consideration in connection with the present financial operations permitted in India, then his indignant protest is natural, and his protests will become louder and more urgent until they are regarded. We hope the Governor, as largely responsible for the continued prosperity of the country during his rule, has already addressed the Secretary of State on the situation. If this has not been already done, the figures which we give to-day will, we trust, supply His Excellency with some reliable materials.

In the six months, July to December 1895 eighteen rupee companies, having a paid-up capital of R5,848,500 and a nominal capital of R8,860,000, had been registered. In a similar retrospect, a year later, it was stated that the feature of 1896 was the number of sterling companies formed. The companies floated in London during that year numbered thirteen, with a paid-up capital amounting to £902,170, which showed that four and a half times as much had been invested in London as in Ceylon, where during the same twelve months the public tea companies founded numbered eleven, with a paid-up capital of R3,259,000 and a nominal capital of R5940,000 1897 has been notable for the entire absence, since the first month of the year, of the formation of any local companies except of a private nature. In the January of this year one company was registered, and its shares are now quoted in the official list; but, from January to January exclusive, the public were not appealed to in the matter of a single new rupee tea company. The floating of limited liability concerns in London continued during last year, however; and, while the first half of the year saw some huge companies formed having joint interests in this island and in Southern India, the latter half was marked by the floating of a company representing the largest number of Ceylon estates that have been brought together for one flotation.

The first table we give is of local companies which have been formed longe enough to show the fluctuation in prices since the years 1895 and 1896. The first three columns represent the quotations on the 1st January of the respective years, and the last columns is brought up to date, embodying the alterations made by the Committee of the Sharebrokers' Association at there meeting on Tuesday last. Some of the quotations are ex-dividend, but very few are affected by the deductions made for such payments, though mention may be made of Agra-Ouvah. Clyde, Glasgow, Kirklees, Knavesmire, Maha Uva, Tonacombe, and Upper Maskeliya. On the other hand we have almost as many described as "nominal," while practically all in the list are now marked "sellers," which means, in the present state of the market, especially, that business could be done only at figures more or less lower than those quoted. The comparisons are as follows :—

The above particulars show the "slump" per share of the concerns named; but we now have to show what the fall means over the whole of the local produce companies, and on the total number of shares involved. The figures thus produced are what we referred to in our introductory remarks as almost incredible. We are, however, sure of the fact that we have not made out the total loss to be worse than it really is. We include the very latest addition to the Sharebrokers' list, which slightly reduces the net depreciation, and we repeat that by taking the present quotations we do not unfairly expose the weakness of the market:—

¶ Since amalgamated into a Sterling Company, at £10 shares, now quoted at £8.

From the foregoing it will be noticed that the present quotations are still higher, taken all round, than the par value of the shares, the totals respectively being R15,752,150 and R14,920,040. To show in what proportion the older companies conduce to this we divide the list into those formed in 1894 or earlier and those registered in 1895 or later. Of the twenty-five constituting the former, sixteen are above par; one is unchanged; and eight are lower. Of the twenty-six quoted concerns forming the latter list, three are higher; three are unaltered; and twenty are lower.—as follows :—

Annual Ceylon Tea Report:

(By a Colombo Tea-Buying Firm.)

SEASON, 1897.

(Colombo, March 5th, 1898.)

GENERAL.

The position of Ceylon Tea, it is satisfactory to report, has improved during the year. The efforts being made to open up new markets are bearing fruit, and the danger of over-supply, which seemed imminent but a short time ago, now happily seems further removed. The rise in exchange, too, which although seriously affecting those estates already opened, has had the effect of checking the opening up of land which will give the trade time to expand without establishing a too ruinously low level of prices.

The United Kingdom still continues to take the bulk of the Ceylon Crop, and Deliveries show an increase of 9,500,000 lb. which is considerably more than the increase in shipments. Australian shipments also show a satisfactory increase.

One of the features of the year has been the large number of properties floated, into sterling limited liability Companies in London; the prices at which many of these concerns have been taken over seem very full.

The total number of packages offered in London, with averages realized for the last three years, are as follows:—

1895	950,000	Packages averaging	8⅝d. per lb.
1896	1,048,700	,, ,,	8¼d. ,,
1897	1,138,000	,, ,,	7¾d. ,,

The year closed with a stock in London of 1,725,506 lb. less than 1896.

SHIPMENTS TO UNITED KINGDOM.

1877.	1887.	1897.
414 lb.	13,297,381 lb.	98,930,059 lb.

Since compiling this circular the official estimate for the current year has been increased to 125,921,400 lb. Of this estimate, on a parity of previous years the following will be the probable approximate distribution:—

United Kingdom	103,000,000
Australian Colonies	16,000,000
All other ports	7,000,000
Total	126,000,000

QUALITY.

The quality of teas manufactured during January was good, considering the season of the year. During February it fell off slightly, but was distinctly good during that period. March witnessed a considerable falling off, but was up to average. During April the quality was poor, the teas being thin and wanting in point; the poverty continue into May, but commenced to show signs of improvement towards the close of the month. Quality during June was better, but was only medium. July saw a marked improvement, resultant on the monsoon checking flush. In August quality had improved very considerably. In September it was good generally, but not quite equal to the previous month. It declined somewhat in October; but high grown teas still showed desirable quality and flavour. November teas were wanting in point and somewhat thin. December closed with a slight improvement, particularly noticeable in low-country district teas.

Taking the quality all round during 1897 it has been fully up to the average of past seasons, while from August to October it was above the average of that manufactured during the corresponding months of the previous year.

COLOMBO TEA SALES.

The quantity of tea offered during the previous seven seasons are :—

1891	1892	1893	1894
lb.	lb.	lb.	lb.
13,933,793	15,023,441	19,200,861	22,660,060

1895	1896	1897
lb.	lb.	lb.
26,215,941	32,291,570	33,788,217

On the whole, after taking into account the high rate of exchange, the local market has been favourable for sellers, and prices generally would appear on an average to have ruled above London rates. This is greatly due to the large and increasing number of outside markets deriving their supplies direct from Colombo, the Australian Colonies, the Cape and Canada importing considerably increased quantities of Ceylon Tea during the year; and the demand for suitable kinds for the Russian and Continental markets is generally stronger, and on the increase. However, when taking in account the higher rates ruling in Colombo, it must be remembered that in the case of Teas shipped to London, sold in the room and re-exported they are in the first instance mulcted the extent of 10 to 12 per cent between the ship and saleroom and a further three to five per cent cost of reshipping. So that if the producer gets a rather better price for his produce the buyer also benefits to a very considerable extent.

The following figures show the averages for the last seven years:—

			Average.
1891	9,578,611 lb.	41	cents.
1892	11,573,869 do	41	do
1893	14,365,017 do	43	do
1894	15,723,080 do	43	do
1895	19,668,116 do	47	do
1896	25,402,624 do	41	do
1897	25,630,499 do	37	do

EXCHANGE.

An unfortunate and depressing feature of the year's working has been the rise in exchange (although perhaps a blessing in disguise) which ruled considerably above the previous year. The contributory causes and the effects are summarized as follows :—

By the closing of the Indian Mints, and the suspension of the free coining of silver in 1893, and fixing 1s 4d per rupee, or R15 per sovereign, as the exchange rate between that and gold, an attempt was made by the Indian Government to fix a more stable value to the rupee. The effect of this was not particularly noticeable until the latter end of October, 1896, when the value of the rupee commenced to rise. In May of last year exchange again dropped considerably when 3 months sight credit bills touched 1s 2 7-16thd. In the first week in September, the Indian Government announced that there would be a suspension of the sale of Council Bills for ten weeks. On 7th September exchange advanced to 1s 4 1-32nd d demand, the highest point yet reached since the closing of the mints. On the expiration of these ten weeks a further postponement was made to 15th December, and in order to provide for payments in London, the authorities have had to call for tenders of India bills of six and twelve months date to a considerable extent.

The suspension of the sale of Council Bills has not altogether had the effect of steadying exchange as was expected, and this is due to a variety of causes. First, and perhaps the principal one, is that there is considerable speculation in Bombay in exchange, which causes it to fluctuate more than it otherwise would do; then again the uncertainty of the position likely to be taken up by the Indian Government in the future has also been a serious difficulty in the way of securing a steady exchange.

The English Government has refused to consider the American proposals for bimetallism, acting on the strong recommendations brought forward by the Indian Government, and it now seems hardly probable that the latter is likely to depart from its present course without giving the experiment a good trial. Were it possible to establish a steady exchange, from an importers' point of view, the position would be greatly improved, as the present fluctuations make business in imports largely of a speculative nature, From a Planter's and Producer's point of view, however, the position is far from satisfactory, and the Indian and Ceylon Tea Industry in particular having been built upon a low value of the Rupee is suffering considerably, and as supplies increase will doubtlessly suffer still further. Whether or not the Indian Government will be able to maintain the present value permanently is a matter extremely difficult to foresee, but that they are doing the country an inestimable injury is admitted on all sides, and it is absurd to suppose the present system of borrowing can go on, and the Indian Empire, rich as it is, remain solvent.

DISTRIBUTION OF CROP.

The annexed figures, compiled from the Chamber of Commerce returns, shewing shipments during the previous year to the various parts of the World, will give a general idea of the expansion of the Tea Trade of Ceylon. Unfortunately, however, a large amount of tea being shipped from Ceylon to the various parts of the World cannot be particularised, so that the Chamber of Commerce figures are on the whole a small criterion from which to judge of what is actually being shipped, large quantities going forward for shipment, on through Bill of Lading to London.

A direct line of steamers from Calcutta via Colombo to New York is about to be tried, and should it be found to pay it will go great lengths in extending direct trade with America, and the Chamber of Commerce figures so far as that country is concerned will be rather more valuable. During the year 116,054,567 lb. have been shipped, which is an increase of 6,565,493 lb. over last year.

CEYLON TEA DISTRICTS.

Estimated relative yield and average price realised for the different Ceylon tea districts, compiled from the public auctions held in London between January 1st and December 31st, 1897 :—

AUSTRALIAN COLONIES.

The following figures show the increase of shipments during the last four years to the Colonies, and it is satisfactory to note that Ceylon tea still continues to grow in favour year by year :—

GEO. WHITE & CO.'S TEA REPORT FOR 1897.

TEA IN CEYLON AND JAVA.

GEO. WHITE & CO.'S ANNUAL INDIA, CEYLON & JAVA TEA REPORT.

LONDON, 31, FENCHURCH STREET, E.C., 23rd March, 1898.

In taking a retrospective view of the season now drawing to a close, it is evident that the anticipation of excessive supplies, as foreshadowed in the first estimates given of the Indian crop, together with the increase also looked for from Ceylon, caused the trade to exercise much caution at the outset in making purchases. Subsequently however it was found that these expectations as to the yield from both the above-named quarters would not be realized, and this to some extent imparted confidence, though buyers remained nervous and business was more or less quiet throughout, owing to several causes, including the Jubilee festivities and the engineers' strike, &c.

INDIA.

The Indian Tea Association of Calcutta in May 1897, originally computed the total out-turn for that year at 156,669,000 lbs., of which it was thought 138½ million lbs. would be available for Great Britain. This was afterwards reduced to 148 million lbs. and 130 million lbs. respectively, and it would now seem that about 134 million lbs. will be sent to this country from that port. On the other hand, imports from South India (say, 3,000,000 lbs.) are not included in the above and will about counterbalance "overside" shipments from here to America, Canada, &c. Taking this into consideration, there will therefore be about 3 million lbs. more than last season to be dealt with.

Quality from the different districts generally was not of an attractive character. Assams proved the best. Darjeelings were on the whole, disappointing. Docars were at times good, but the bulk was below that of 1896. Cachars and Sylhets were of ordinary style, while the product of the North West Districts and that of the Madras Presidency was not up to that of former years.

The feature of the season therefore, has been the super-abundance of plain and characterless Teas, which caused a very low range to be established for these descriptions, but as a set-off to this, really fine full-flavoured parcels benefited by their comparative scarcity, and commanded good prices. It is disappointing nevertheless to notice that the reduced scale of values has not, as is usual, stimulated consumption. In some quarters this is attributed to the impetus given to the sale of cocoa and similar articles by special advertisements which have possibly drawn public attention to them, while there is no doubt that the labour troubles which have affected some of our manufacturing industries, have much curtailed the spending power of the classes interested. Deliveries from the London Bonded Warehouses for the eight months from 1st July, 1897, were 85,837,000 lbs. versus 85,527,000 lbs. in the previous season, and therefore did not show the expansion expected; while Stock at the end of February was 64,080,000 lbs. against 55,425,000 lbs. on the same date in 1897.

From 1st July, 1897, to the close of last month the average for 927,000 packages sold on garden account was 8⅝d. per lb., in contra-distinction to 9⅜d. per lb. for 890,000 packages, and 9d. per lb. for 800,000 packages in the corresponding intervals of 1896-7 and 1895-6. Planters have moreover had to contend with the results of earthquakes, higher rates of exchange and freight, as well as dearer rice owing to famine in several of the provinces.

CEYLON.

Although scarcely equal to that of the preceding year, the 1897 crop was on the whole fairly good, but there was a noticeable lack of really fine invoices in the public sales during the summer months, and consequently prices were depressed, the average for July falling to 7½d. per lb. After August however, quality commenced to improve and the results were more satisfactory, until less desirable Teas again came forward. During the twelve months the amount which passed through the London Auction Room was:—

1897.	1896.	1895.
1,138,000 pkgs.	1,049,000 pkgs.	950,000 pkgs.
(Av. 7¾d. per lb.)	(Av. 8¼d. per lb.)	(Av. 8⅝d. per lb.)

No doubt the decline in the average is chiefly due to the inferiority of a portion of the crop consequent on abnormally inclement weather during the major part of the season. This coupled with adverse rates of exchange, freight, &c., has been detrimental to the interests of those engaged in the industry. The yield from the Island showed an important increase, as total exports for 1897 were 116,000,000 lbs. against 108,000,000 lbs., and 98,000,000 lbs. in 1896 and 1895, while shipments to Great Britain rose to 93,998,000 lbs. contrasted with 93,936,000 lbs., and 85,753,000 lbs. in the two previous calendar years. Consumption however more than kept pace with receipts, which were 93,446,000 lbs. from 1st January to 31st December, clearance for that time being 95,172,000 lbs., opposed to 85,450,000 lbs. in 1896, of which 10½ million lbs. was exported in 1897, or say 2 million lbs. more than in the foregoing 12 months.

JAVA.

Supplies to this country were moderate, the quantity offered at Public Sale from the 1st July, 1897 to the 28th ult., being 26,000 packages versus 25,000 packages and 37,000 packages in the same period of 1896-1897 and 1895-1896. Quality was fully maintained and the style of manufacture for the most part was of a very useful description, particularly in the case of leaf plucked from plants raised from Assam and Ceylon seed, which has rendered the Teas serviceable to the Home Trade who now take them freely for blending purposes.

EXPORTS FROM THE UNITED KINGDOM.

The total amount of all Tea exported from the United Kingdom during the past eight months, as compared with the two previous years, is as follows:—

July 1st 1897 to end of Feb. 1898:—
July 1st 1896 to end of February 1897:—

N.B.—"Overside" Transhipments for the Continent, America, Canada, &c., via London, and direct shipments to other Ports of the United Kingdom, are not included in the above. Prior to Season 1885-1886, the Ceylon figures given represent total exports from Colombo, the proportion sent from there to Foreign ports before that date being unimportant. Arrivals from Java are omitted, as they vary in different years, being regulated according to the state of the markets which take them.

The following figures will show the Exports to other Ports than Great Britain from Calcutta and Colombo the latter marking considerable developments.—

	Australia.	Asia.	America.	Continent of Europe.	Total.

1896	11,805,000	1,282,000	719,000	618,000	14,422,000
1895	9,580,000	1,187,000	394,000	690,000	11,851,000

The Board of Trade returns (which embrace statistics from all the bonded Warehouses in the United Kingdom) for the past three calendar years were.—

	Home Consumption	Export.	Total Deliveries.	Bonded Stock, Dec. 31.
	lb.	lb.	lb.	lb.
1897	231,400,000	36,546,000	267,946,000	101,870,000
1896	227,386,000	33,2[illegible],000	261,967,000	103,799,000
1895	221,[illegible],000	30,551,000	252,[illegible],000	101,336,000

Owing to the check given to business, as indicated over leaf, the increase in the Home consumption was not so great as in 1896, but the quantity exported from here shows a comparatively important expansion.

It is not unreasonable to suppose that the more settled condition of the industrial situation in this country, coupled with additional progress in our dealings with foreign parts, will admit of improved business throughout the coming twelvemonths, and therefore to conclude that our requirements will grow, and that we shall be able to dispose of 275,000,000 lbs. No official estimates of the India Crop are yet to hand, but we may probably look for the undermentioned supplies from the several producing countries, viz.:—

India (including the Madras Presidency)	138,000,000 lb.
Ceylon	102,000,000 lb.
Java	5,000,000 lb.
Leaving China to furnish, say ...	30,000,000 lb.
	275,000,000 lb.

PROSPECTS.

Should climatic conditions be favourable and the 1898 crop prove good it will be of much assistance to the market. By the time the new Teas from India arrive in bulk the Bonded Stock, which at the moment looks rather heavy, will most likely be worked down, and the Trade will operate with confidence if there is a prospect of dealing with desirable and attractive parcels from both India and Ceylon. During the season now under review buyers have been overwhelmed with a heavy supply of uninteresting quality, which has led to a very low range of value for all but "stand out" grades, resulting in disappointment to nearly all those interested in the industry.

If the figures given above should prove accurate there would appear to be no difficulty in distributing the increased yield of British-grown Tea. It must however be borne in mind that we have hitherto been able to meet the annually augmented out-turn from India and Ceylon by a reduction in shipments to this country from China, which in 1880 81 reached the high total of 164½ million lbs. and are now only about 30 million lbs. A further diminution from this quarter can, perhaps, hardly be looked for, and therefore it is necessary that every endeavour should be made to further foster other markets, as has been done for some time passed with considerable success by both the India and Ceylon Tea Associations and other agencies in Russia and various parts of the Continent as well as in Canada and America. If the local consumption in the East Indies amongst the teeming native populations could also be encouraged, a large quantity of coarse leaf and dust might be worked off which at present often does not realise sufficient to cover cost and freight to this country and tends to increase the supply of poor and low class grades which are really not wanted. The interests of growers would be much benefitted if a mutual movement in this direction could be made by some influential Association which might be subsidised, even if it was considered advisable to make a compulsory "cess" for that purpose on each property.

MANUFACTURE.

Now that so many improvements in machinery for withering, fermenting, rolling and drying the green leaf have been introduced, it seems that not so much scope is left for an advance in this direction as formerly, and it becomes more and more evident that the great variations in quality (again noticeable in the past season) are almost entirely attributable to climatic influence while the flushes are maturing. Over this stage the Manager can exercise no control, but by directing his supervision to plucking and the different processes of manufacture a good deal may be done to counteract the effects of untoward weather. Instead of spending large sums of money on new clearances it would often be advantageous to increase the labour force and concentrate attention on the cultivation and improvement of existing gardens. Experience has proved that on the majority of estates, especially those situated at a high elevation, moderately fine plucking, which means the employment of a full staff, gives the best result, and in localities where Teas with special point can be produced it would perhaps be better to strive after the attainment of this, especially when ordinary and mediocre descriptions from low lying gardens predominate. These remarks apply to parts of Assam, Darjeeling and Ceylon, where choice flavoured Teas can be made and where by the enhanced prices obtainable the course suggested would probably often pay even if quantity was reduced.

SIZE OF BREAKS.

No alteration has been made in the limits for large breaks since last year which stand as under, viz.:—

Indian—20 Chests 30 Half-Chests, 50 Boxes. Ceylon—18 Chests, 24 Half-Chests, 40 Boxes. Breaks of lesser size are sold separately at the close of the auctions.

ASSORTMENT.

As the whole crop from India has practically to be dealt with in about six months, owing to the greater facilities now afforded by railways and accelerated steamer transit, while during this busy period large quantities are also coming forward from Ceylon, buyers complain of the succession of small shipments which are often despatched at short intervals from the same estate, and this should, if possible, be obviated. The sorting into too many grades is also inadvisable. A Broken Pekoe of say 30 chests or more; a good Pekoe of 50 chests or over; a Pekoe Souchong of 70 chests or upwards; with a break of Broken Tea or Pekoe Fannings will generally be found to answer. Parcels containing dust are not readily saleable and therefore this should be sifted out and packed by itself, for which purpose some of the patent packages now in vogue might be utilized so as to avoid leakage on the voyage resulting in the loss of weight which often occurs with country made chests. The exception to the foregoing is when a tippy Broken Orange Pekoe or Orange pekoe can be made, as these when really fine usually command high figures, whether from India or Ceylon. Should the quantity of leaf available for this not suffice for a full sized break in Chests it might be packed in Half-Chests.

N.B.—In view of the low scale of prices now established any plan that will effect a saving in the handling of Teas will be of interest to the grower and we have therefore compiled a few hints as regards packages, bulking, &c., warehouse charges, and weighing, and these matters are dealt with in our "Notes for the Tea Factory," published separately, copies of which we shall be happy to furnish to those concerned in the cultivation of the article.

ANALYSIS OF CROP FROM INDIA.

ASSAM.

The yield from this district has on the whole been above the average, many of the shipments being of a very desirable character, whilst the leaf of those possessing autumn flavour was in most cases devoid of the reddish appearance which often depreciates the value of closing invoices. Owing to the scarcity of good liquoring parcels from other quarters the Trade was anxious to secure these at enhanced price. Output for 1897 was barely up to that of the previous year, being 58 million lbs. against 59½ million lbs. in 1896 and compares with 55½ million lbs. in 1895.

CACHAR AND SYLHET.

As a rule the crop was below par in cup, but the Teas were well made and of a saleable description. The total manufacture was rather more, viz.: 46½ million lbs. opposed to 45½ million lbs. and 39¾ million lbs. in the two preceding seasons.

DARJEELING AND TERAI.

With few exceptions quality was decidedly inferior and averages disappointing almost throughout, weather having been very unpropitious for the production of fine flavour. For three seasons, 11, 11½ and 10¾ million lbs. were sent away.

DOOARS.

Although receipts were of a fairly useful character throughout, there was a lack of invoices with full coloury infusions similar to those of 1896. On account of the increased acreage coming into bearing nearly 24 million lbs. were despatched from the gardens, contrasted with 22 and 20 million lbs. in the two years before.

CHITTAGONG.

There is nothing special to note in the out-turn from here, the yield being about the same as last year, viz., 1,000,000, as against 800,000 lbs. in 1895.

KANGRA, DEHRA-DOON AND KUMAON.

Weather appears to have been unfavourable all through the season for making the fine quality for which the former district was noted, while the crop from the last two continues to be principally disposed of locally. The Quantity manufactured was similar to that for the last two years, namely, about 4 million lbs.

TRAVANCORE AND S. INDIA.

From the Madras Presidency a few nice flavoured Teas have been received, especially from among those grown on the Neilgherry Hills and the Wynaad. The larger amount, however, has come from Travancore, which though of useful style with few exceptions, did not shew the strong dark liquors, which at one time were a leading feature of these Teas. About 3 million lbs. have been shipped to this country, against 2¾ and 2¼ million lbs. in 1896 and 1895, respectively.

The Archæological Survey of Ceylon and its Work.

BY PROF. W. W. GEIGER.

Amongst the many objects that occupied the Eleventh International Congress of Orientalists held at Paris, it had the opportunity of noticing also the admirable work done by the Archæological Survey of Ceylon. According to a proposal which I made in the afternoon meeting of the Indian Section on September 10th the Congress accepted a resolution to express its warmest thanks to the British Government in Colombo for the varied and efficient assistance afforded to the historical inquiry about the island by publishing the Archæological Reports, as well as by editing the Mahavamsa and similar documents. The Congress hoped also that the work which has been undertaken so auspiciously, will be continued by the Government, and carried out in the same manner. Now I beg to add a few remarks to that resolution, which may explain its origin and its purpose. These remarks are only caused by the anxious desire to make the work of the Archæological Survey of Ceylon as useful as possible to the scientific world, and they are based upon the experiences which I myself had in making use of its publications for my own historical and linguistic studies.

First of all, I am sorry to observe that the Reports of the Archæological Survey of Ceylon are by no means so well known in Europe, and so much studied by European scholars, as we should expect and as they deserve. I beg to mention but one instance. In the year 1892 the Government published Mr. H. C. P. Bell's most interesting and comprehensive "Report on the Kegalla District of the Sabaragamuwa Province." But I am sorry I could not even find this work quoted in the German Oriental Bibliography, though the editors of this journal took the utmost trouble to make their list of books as complete as possible, and though they mention a good many papers of much less scientific importance. I know very well that in the winter 1895-6, when I was myself in Ceylon, the excavations of Sigiriya, undertaken by the indefatigable Archæological Commissioner, Mr. Bell, had led to very important results, and I suppose that in the meantime some detailed report has been printed on these operations. But I have not seen it up to the present day, though I am very anxious to hear more about the subject.*

All scholars, I think, will therefore agree with me that it is extremely desirable to give much more publicity to the printed reports of the Ceylon Government than they seem to have at present. This can be done by various means. But first of all it will be necessary that the Ceylon Government should give orders for the regular dispatch of the Archæological reports to this Society and to the British Museum, and it might also officially entrust a certain number of booksellers in the different countries of Europe with the sale of its publications. I suppose, of course, that an arrangement of that kind has already been made for England; but as regards Germany, Mr. Otto Harrassowitz, at Leipzic, no doubt would come first into consideration, because he already has in his hands nearly the whole book trade between our country and the Oriental publishers. Besides, if I am allowed to judge from the most amiable reception and liberal assistance which I ever found in Ceylon, I may, perhaps, add the suggestion that as is done by the Indian Government with their publications, the publications might also be sent direct to such scholars as are especially engaged in Sinhalese studies.

I pass now to the form and the contents of the publications themselves, and I wish at first to draw particular attention to the epigraphical work done in Ceylon. Inscriptions which have been newly discovered, or which now can be explained in a more satisfactory manner than formerly, are at present generally published in the Reports of the Archæological Survey, together with the other materials. The third part, for instance, of the Report on the Kegalla District, which I mentioned above, is merely an epigraphical one, and it contains, amongst other documents, the important inscription of Dewanagala, which alludes to some historical events in the reign of Parakrama Bahu I, quite in accordance with the statement of the Mahavamsa. Other new inscriptions used to be edited and translated in the J.R.A.S. Ceylon Branch; not to speak of Rhys Davids' papers on old Sinhalese Inscriptions, formerly published in J.R.AS. in England, and of Rhys Davids', G. Goldschmidt's, and Edw. Müller's articles printed in the Indian Antiquary. This arrangement, I think, is not a happy one. The materials are spread far and wide, and the continuity of inquiry is in danger of being lost. According to my opinion, it would be best to separate the epigraphical part totally from the purely archæological work, and to publish the inscriptions and whatever belongs to their study in particular reports. Thus a kind of "Epigraphia Ceylonica" would be established, and I am sure that it would find the unanimous approval of all European students of Sinhalese and of Indian epigraphy. It is hardly necessary to add that not only the newly discovered inscriptions or those which will be discovered in future, should be published in these periodical reports for which I beg to suggest the title "Epigrapia Ceylonica." There are a good many inscriptions already printed and translated as for instance in Edw. Müller's "Ancient Inscriptions of Ceylon," which require a new study, and which can be edited now with many improvements both in the text and in the translation. I do not doubt that even those scholars who made the first steps in that rather dark field will fully agree with me on this point. The "Epigraphia Ceylonica" must, therefore, be accessible to everybody who might be able to contribute to the elucidation of Sinhalese inscriptions in the West as well as in the East. For by common labour only, and particularly by the common labour of European and of Oriental scholars, can satisfactory results be attained.

But there is still one important point which cannot be passed over in silence. It is quite indispensable that each inscription to be published or newly explained in the "Epigraphia" should be reproduced in a good facsimile. Mere transliterations are of comparatively small value, and would be sufficient only in quite exceptional cases. We cannot accept statements without having the opportunity of controlling them, for even the most trustworthy and most careful scholar may make a mistake in reading Sinhalese inscriptions, and a misreading may lead him to conclusions which are totally wrong.

The edition of the "Epigraphia Ceylonica" must, of course, be entrusted to a man who combines practical knowledge with scientific method; and I am sure that the Ceylon Government has at its disposal more than one scholar who possesses those qualities. But I hope that nobody will find in this remark anything like a reproach against the present editor of the Archæological Reports. We are all so much obliged to him for the invaluable service he has rendered to the science, even risking his health and his life, that any reproach would be equal to ingratitude. My suggestions touch only the form of the publications of the Archæological Survey; and I should be glad if they would be approved by Mr. Bell himself. For the edition and translation of inscriptions discovered by him, Mr. Bell always made use of the assistance of some native scholars, and he has repeatedly mentioned this useful service with the warmest acknowlegement, although it unfortunately does not appear in each case who is responsible for the particular piece of work.

The epigraphical inquiry, however, must be supplemented, I think, by a systematic study of the literary sources of the Sinhalese history. The chief part has already been done in this respect by the edition and translation of the Mahavamsa, which we really may call a standard work. But I believe that it is now time to publish also the secondary sources in their original text, together with an English translation, as for instance the Pujavaliya, Attanagalavamsaya, Rajaratnakaraya, Rajavaliya, etc. I am fully aware that some of these books have already been edited in Ceylon itself. But it is sometimes not very easy to get these editions; the Rajavaliya is not yet printed at all. Besides, I think that a translation of these works is hardly superfluous, because many scholars will make use of them as historical sources, who are not able to read Sinhalese books in the original language. As to the form of these publications, I would propose to print them, just like the inscipticns, periodically in separate parts, but with one general title, as "Monumenta Historiæ Ceylonicæ"; these "Monumenta" would include even interesting passages about Ceylon and its people, taken from Greek and Latin, Arabic and Chinese, and even from older Portuguese and Dutch authors, together with a historical and geographical commentary. Papers of that kind used to appear sometimes in the J.R.A.S., Ceylon Branch; but I think it better to reserve the Journal for what we call scientific inquiries. Even such a treatise as Appendix I (Constitution of the Kandyan Kingdom) in Bell's Report, already quoted, would be in the right place in the "Monumenta," and would be studied by many more scholars, no doubt, than can now be the case. In fact, I hope it will be possible, in the course of time, to collect in the "Monumenta," all the materials on which our knowledge of Sinhalese history is based.

I took the liberty to express a few wishes, felt, I suppose, by all the European scholars who are engaged in Sinhalese studies, regarding the publications the Archæological Survey of Ceylon. My purpose was only to make its excellent works more fruitful and more accessible to the scientific world. Nobody will say, I hope, that my suggestions are merely utopian ideas which never can be realized, because the expenses required by them would be extraordinary. They chiefly touch, as I have already said, the outer form of the publications. I wish to separate on one side those materials which are somewhat different, and on the other, I wish to concentrate the divergent labours of such scholars as are really working in the same field. The "Monumenta" would of course, appear as sufficient material was collected and Government funds were available for the publication, and the same would be the case with the "Epigraphia." I admit that some more money would be required by the proposal to add good plates to each of the inscriptions published therein. But it would be sufficient to publish the work quite slowly, provided it is published in a perfect and entirely satisfactory manner. I believe also that it will be necessary to print a greater number of copies of each report than has been done till now. But I am sure that at least a part of the money spent thereon will be recouped by the greater publicity, and by the better sale of the publications in Europe, according to the arrangement which I propose above.

To summarise, finally, all I have said, I beg to suggest quite respectfully that the Government of Ceylon might resolve to separate the Reports of the Archæological Survey into three different publications:

(1) Archaelogical Reports, containing the archæological and sculptural results of the excavations;

(2) Epigraphia Ceylonica, containing the newly discovered inscriptions, or new interpretations of such inscriptions as are already known;

(3) Monumenta Historiae Ceylonicae, a kind of "Quellenkunde," containing Sinhalese historical books and other literary sources belonging to the history of Ceylon in the original text, with translation and commentary.—Royal Asiatic Society's Journal.

"Sigiriya Frescoes."

TO THE EDITOR ["CEYLON STANDARD."]

Sir,—Some one has been good enough to send me copy of your issue of the 20th instant, containing a letter by Mr. C. M. Fernando, and a short editorial paragraph, relating to the "Sigiriya Frescoes."

I note that Mr. Fernando has returned to the charge, in defence of his theory of Sinhalese authorship for the paintings at Sigiriya.

I do not propose to enter here fully into the disputed question of their execution by native, or foreign, artists: this I hope to do later in my Archæological Report on Sigiriya." I desire now merely to correct one or two inaccuracies into which Mr. Fernando has slipped.

It may be assumed once for all that the frescoes at Ajanta in India, and those on the Sigiriya Rock, were executed, if not by the same hands, at least by artists trained in the same school.

Mr. Fernando's arguments against the importation of "exotic talent" for the painting the Sigiriya frescoes may best be quoted, and briefly touched on seriatim:—

(I.) "Cœteris paribus, the credit of painting frescoes found in Ceylon must, prima facie, rest with the Sinhalese."

Admitted; but "other things are" not "equal"; little Ceylon is not giant India; the field of selection for competent artists is as 1 to 60 (25,000 square miles to one-and-half millions.)

II. "Two of the frescoes at Ajanta, as pointed out by Fergusson and Manning, depict scenes from the Mahawansa, the ancient chronicle of Lanka."

The scenes referred to are—(a), the supposed landing of Vijaya in Ceylon; and (b) the, supposed introduction of Buddhism into the Island—given by Mrs. Speir in her "Life in Ancient India."

As regards (a), Mrs. Speir rightly remarks that the picture—from the horse worship introduced into it—illustrates "a northern adaptation of the story in the Mahawanso, related in a Nepalese work of Avalokiteswara" who saved "Sinhala" (Vijaya) in the form of a horse. The Sinhalese have always belonged to the Hinayana ("Lesser Vehicle") school of Buddhism which knows not Avalokiteswara, the Bodhisatva of the northern Mahayana, or "Greater Vehicle." Much the same comment applies to (b), it may equally as well have been based on Northern Buddhist works as taken from the "Mahawansa" of the Southern school—if the painting has anything whatever to do with the meeting between Mahindo and king Devanampiyatisa.

III. "Mr. Bell made a point of the fact that the Sigiriya frescoes were the only ones of the kind in Ceylon. I replied by saying that those of Ajanta were just as unique as regards India."

The Ajanta paintings are not "unique" in the sense of the frescoes at Sigiriya. It is true that the former (as Fergusson records) "represent Buddhist legends on a scale and with a distinctness found nowhere else in India." But there are other frescoes which in beauty of execution run them very close—if, indeed, they do not surpass them;—and which prove, further, that the art retained its full vigour for many centuries longer on the Indian continent. I refer to the wonderful paintings to be seen at Fathpur-Sikri, near Agra, the "royal abode" of Akbar in the 16th century. Here, in Ceylon, we have nowhere else mural painting attaining the standard of art exhibited in the Sigiriya frescoes.

Again, had Kasyapa employed Sinhalese sitiyaru to adorn the walls of his marvellous citadel, it may reasonably be inferred that the services of the ancestors of the Nilagama guild of painters would have been enlisted; and yet at this day no tradition even lingers among these hereditary craftsmasters, whose work at the ancient Dambulla cave temple goes back to an earlier date than the occupation of Sigiriya as a capital. Shown the Sigiriya frescoes in the "pockets" themselves last year, these Nilagama men declared their inability to explain the process by which the colours have been permanently "fixed," or to attempt to "restore" them in any degree.

(IV.) "Thus, from Mr. Bell's own standpoint, there is nothing to prevent the supposition that these are the only existing frescoes of many that were painted, not only at Sigiriya but in other places as well, in the 5th century of the Christian era."

Nothing at all, as far as Sigiriya is concerned—but a great deal as regards "other places" throughout Ceylon. If I have examined one ancient cave, vihare, &c., in the Central, North-Western and North-Central Provinces, I have examined well nigh a thousand,—and any painting rivalling the art displayed in the Sigiriya frescoes I have still to find. The surface painting faintly traceable on the "altars" of some of the larger Dagabas of Anuradhapura, on the walls of the so-called "Demala maha seya" at Polonnaruwa, or in the caves of Handagala and Dimbulagala, is not devoid of merit, but belongs to a lower grade of art than the frescoes of Ajanta and Sigiriya.

(V). Mr. Fernando harps on the allusion in the "Mahawansa" to the use of "vermillion paint mixed with tala oil" for the ornamentation of Ruwanveli Dagaba when built by King Dutugemunu (first century B. C.); and quotes Sir Emerson Tennent in support of the "claim the discovery of oil painting on behalf of the Sinhalese," upon this single shred of not too reliable evidence.

Very good: let us admit for the moment that the honour of the discovery actually rests with the Sinhalese—though it really needs considerably more proof—; let us go further, and assume that Dutugemunu did not go to the continent of India for his artists—as, for all the "Mahawansa" tells us, he well may—what then? He must be a bold man that would assert that the descendants of the Sinhalese (if Sinhalese they were) who painted the Anuradhapura Dagaba "altars" were capable of designing, and carrying out, the life-like frescoes of Sigiriya. Moreover, as is well known, Oriental art is strongly conservative—follows slavishly stereotyped forms and methods. Is it probable—is it even possible—that the art of fresco painting should, among the Sinhalese, have risen to the high level of Sigiriya in the fifth century, and gradually degenerate into the travesty which offends the eye and excites ridicule, at the modern Buddhist temples of Ceylon?

(VI.) "Kasyapa was a prisoner king. Betaking himself to the rock-fortress of Sigiriya, he lay for eighteen long years in concealment, fearful of the vengeance of his brother Moggalana, from which he only escaped by the crime of suicide. It is difficult to understand the opportunities which this prisoner-king would have had to communicate with India, and to import therefrom exotic artists."

"Prisoner-king"—presumably a sort of "ticket-of-leave" Prince; allowed by the considerateness of a younger brother to have for only "eighteen long years," the run of the Island, provided he kept in decent "concealment." To Kasyapa's credit, be it said, he behaved exceedingly well during his period of "probation"—he committed no more murders—he did not worry Moggalana (who by the way appears to have found it "convenient" to cross over to India, so as not to embarrass his elder brother in the least)—he merely amused himself by erecting, at vast labour and expense, a magnificent royal citadel,—just to show what "honest concealment" meant," of course, under such conditions, intercourse with India would be quite impossible.

(VII.) "The presumption of exotic artists would imply that painting was the only art in which the ancient Sinhalese were lacking, great as they admittedly were in sculpture, architecture, engineering, &c."

This opens up a far wider question; and one that must not be "begged." Is Mr. Fernando prepared to prove that the Sinhalese were "great" in "sculpture, architecture, &c."? Will he favour the Asiatic Society with a paper on:—"The characteristics of the Sinhalese style of ancient architecture, as distinct from the Buddhistic and Dravidian styles found in India"? I do not say the task is impossible; but it is not to be undertaken hastily. At present there is much ground for the supposition that the Sinhalese kings imported skilled artisans from the continent to execute very many of the ancient monuments of Anuradhapura, Polonnaruwa, &c., commonly attributed to the Sinhalese. Few are the forms of building and sculpture which cannot be easily traced to an Indian source.—Yours faithfully, H. C. P. BELL.

A Portuguese Church in Batavia.

INTERESTING NOTES OF DAYS OF OLD—200 YEARS AGO:

PORTUGUESE vs. DUTCH IN THE EAST.

MIT OUD-BATAVIA DE PORTUGEESCHE BUITEN KERK: (G. Kolff & Co., Batavia.)

The above is the title of a little book, written by Dr. F. de Haan, published, as the title page indicates for the benefit of the fund for the restoration of the Church.

As the name (Buiten kerk), indicates, the church stands outside the ouden wal (the old rampart) and, according to the writer, is fully worth a visit. "You enter through a gate, the church yard, surrounded, as 'at home,' with a wall. A paved way leads one, past tombs covered with tombstones, to the chief entrance. You enter, to leave behind you, India and all that is, and will remain strange to you. You are on your native land."

". . . . Those seats along the wall, they are the same where you have often sat as a child. The seats in the nave of the church, many a Sunday have you seen well known faces, singing there, out of the psalm book. Your eyes fall on the many coloured hatchments on the wall, and one which records the date of the building, 1695.

The buiten kerk was not built for those high in station and office, but for the labouring classes, and the services in Dutch, or even in Malay, were the exception. Portuguese was the language used. When the Dutch conquered their mortal enemy, the Portuguese had long been settled in the East. They knew more than any other nation how to adapt themselves to the conditions of Eastern life. They brought none of their women to the East, hence the race of what our fathers called "mixtisen" in the Portuguese Colonies. The teaching of the Jesuit fathers swelled the ranks of "black Portuguese" and out of the Babel of tongues heard in Batavia, there arose a bastard Portuguese, a lingua franca. At first services took place in the fort, a little church was built which was burnt down during the siege (1628). Services were then held in the gemeene wandadplaatse (ordinary promenade) of the stad hins. In 1634 Dr. Molinens began to preach in Portuguese. A class of "swarte borgeren" or Mardy'ken also arose speaking Portuguese, and the language had taken such a strong hold on the people, that in the year (1641) when Malacca was taken, the Government expressed the fear "that Portuguese would eventually sweep out the Dutch language" and resolved to take measures to prevent such a result. It passed a rule that officers of the Mardy'ken Companies should be able to speak Dutch. But with little success, as in 1674 Mantzincker, the Governor-General, wrote that the "Portuguese language had the Upperhand" to his great regret. Not only did slaves and freed people speak it, but it was the home language of the Europeans. The Portuguese congregation knew so little Dutch in 1713, that only 3 out of 100 understood it. Measures were then taken to spread the Reformed Religion. A Bandanese, Cornelis Seenen (commonly known as Meester Cornelis), was thirty year "voorlezer."

He was "a local celebrity," still remembered when many Governors-General are forgotten. Unfortunately, through lack of intelligence, he could not attain the rank of predikant, which the Government would have gladly granted to him. Meester Cornelis tuyn (Master Cornelis' garden) still commemorates his memory. In 1651 the Government resolved to build a masonry church for the native Chinese. The place selected was where, in the time of Governor Coen, the English had their quarters. The foundation stone was not laid till the 1st Jan. 1673. This church was used by the Malay and Portuguese congregations, but latterly, exclusively, by the Portuguese and was known as the Portuguese Binnenkerk (the church within the walls). This church was burnt down on the 14th Jan. 1808. Many Asiatics and freedmen from Ceylon came to Batavia and increased the Portuguese congregations. These people are described as "conforming to the manner of the Nederlanders" and it was said of them (1705) "that they went about with the ridiculous haughty air of the Portuguese, clad like Europeans, but mostly without shirt, socks or shoes, with an antique and tattered coat with their coal black faces and feet, looking like a mountebank's ape 'rigged out' in his finery." The Batavian mardykers, who had served the hon. Company well in their wars, settled outside the city walls close to the bastion gelbria. There was already (1669) a cemetery for them here, and there was built of bamboo a church where the Portuguese were catechized. In consequence of the increasing numbers of those who came to be catechized Governor-General Camphuijs (1689) resolved to buy the "garden of Gerbrandt Nieholt," to enlarge the cemetery and obtain a site for a larger church. On the 19th October, 1693 the first stone was laid "in the presence of the Director-General Joan VanHoorn, by his nephew the Visitor-General Pieter VanHoorn." It was the intention of the Government that the Portuguese should provide the funds for the building, but this was found impracticable. The church funds of Formosa were sent to Batavia, after Fort Zelandia was taken by Coxinga, the native chief. Part of this fund was used to provide for the French refugees to the Cape of Good Hope, and the balance 3,000 rix dollars were used for buying the building materials of the Buiten Kerk. On the 23rd October, 1695 the church was formally thrown open for public worship. The Rev. Theodorus Zas, an aged man with "a ferocious moustache" dating 30 years back to the time when he preached in the fleet to those who took part in the blockade of Goa, preached the first sermon taking as his text 1 Kings VIII 29 and 30, in the presence of the Governor-General and others. In the afternoon Rev Jacobus Opden Acker preached in Portuguese. This is the history of the building of the Buiten Kirk.

Here follows a description of the church (two views of the inside being given):—"Of the six frames within each window-frame, at that time four were of rattan lath-work and only two of the upper ones had panes This was found to be more airy. Here and there, there were coloured panes. The gallery was supported by three turned pillars which now support the sounding board (organ). The rail of the gallery was in the same style. Chandeliers were used for lighting. The roof was supported by six wooden columns. The present stone pillars appear to date from 1725. It is a question whether the present quaint pulpit is the same as that supplied by Hendrik Bruyn for 260 rix dollars in the year 1695, or whether the two newly-made heerebanken, with carved work, have not been since replaced." The native burgher, Sergeant Anthoni Colle, a brave Mardyker, presented 300 rix dollars to the church. A silver plate to his memory dates from 1695.

As regards the organ, in 1782, the daughter of the wealthy minister, Johan Mauritz Mohr, of the Portuguese congregation, presented to the church a new one, in memory of her father. The old fashioned chair in the nave of the church is apparently the same that was presented by the Governor-General Vander Parra. The old Portuguese Testament and Malay-Psalm book with silver locks, the four salvers and jugs of silver presented by Camphuys are not to be seen now. Also the two silver fonts gifted by the native Captain Anthony Adriaansz, or the two cups of Sinjeur Joan Rodrigo (perhaps some of this is in the Willems Kerk).

On the walls are various hatchments with Coats of Arms of long-forgotten ladies and gentlemen, heroes of the age of periwigs, of no interest to the present generation save that of Hendrik Swaardekroon (at one time Commander of Jaffna); many hatchments of Governor-General removed to the Binner Kerk were destroyed by a fire in 1808.

In getting out of the church, to the left of the entrance there is the tomb of Zwaardekroon and those of other "notabilities." He wished to be buried with the "commonalty," among whom we find the tombs of Frederik Riebalt (Mardyker)' Titus Anthonyssen and his "good" wife Ragel Titise.

Since then those buried here were Company's servants who died in the hospital :—

"Perhaps in this neglected spot is laid
Some heart, once pregnant with celestial fire—
Hands that the rod of empire might have swayed."

Here follows a description from Heydt (Schouwplaats). About the year 1800 burials ceased here, "and now a quiet kitchen garden has been started within the walls in this wretched quarter." The Portuguese services were afterwards less and less attended, collections fell off "and the time came when one was glad to find a clergyman who could speak Portuguese, although it was 'high' Portuguese, not understood by the congregation." Abraham Antony Engelbrecht baptized in Galle on the 6th May, 1759, and who died in Batavia 23rd September, 1808 was the last Predikant to the Portuguese. Sic transit.

Some historical notes are appended and an extract from the Dagregister of the Fort of Batavia 16th August, 1728, describing the funeral of Zwaardekroon. whose coat of arms is described as:—

"Azur a sword points upwards hilted gold, the end broken. Issuing from the helmet a raised hand holding a green wreath."

The above is a summary of the contents of this very interesting little book.—F. H. de V.
